Hello everyone! What a week it has been at KPS. I have loved every minute, every pat and every crumb.

Have you seen the pawsome new trophy that classes are trying to win? It's made from two paint brushes, a tennis ball, maraca and a CD. Each part represents one of our specialist subjects – art, PE, Spanish and ICT. In each session, classes earn points for following our school values. I wonder which class will be first to proudly display the trophy in their classroom?

Left: I caught up with two of our Grade 6 peer mediators. They're the ones in yellow vests. There are two mediators on duty each playtime. All mediators do special training with Mrs McCarthy before they are able to don the yellow vest. Say hello if you see them in the yard!

Comments and questions that have put a smile on my dial this week...

"Asha, you're almost my favourite dog."

"Want to play with me?"

"Asha, can I please read you a story?"

"Are you playing dodgeball? Can you be on the kids' team?"

"Don't worry, you can play with my ball, Asha."

On Friday, Miss McKenzie and Mr Babic organised a game of dodgeball for Grade 6 students against teachers. Before the game, I discussed the best strategies for winning with Coach Laffan and her assistant coaches. We'll have to work on our strategies because the teachers lost, 3 - 1. Congratulations Grade 6s!

Above & Below: Can you spot the difference? Thought I'd add myself to the staff team. Hint, hint, nudge, nudge. I'd be a great asset to the team for the next game. My middle name is 'Lightning'...

Left: Happy Asha. I thought I was going to play dodgeball!
Middle: Hooray! I found a ball. I'm playing!!!!
Right: Sad Asha. I had to give the ball back and settle for watching, not playing. Oh well, there's always next time!
