

Asha's Adventures

Wow, what a week! I bet not many Labradors can say they've pawticipated in a KPS Colour Run. Definitely one of my favourite FUNdraisers ever! I temporarily got a little distracted trying to pounce on the bubbles at the first colour station but then I was all business. I loved seeing everyone's happy, colourful faces and having the whole school community involved. And the bubbles. Did I mention I loved them too? I hope KPS Family and Friends know how much fun everyone had and how grateful we all are for their work organising the event. A big thank you also to the pawrents, grandpawrents and friends who helped on the day and who came to cheer us all on.

Right: My Grade 2 friends and their teachers, along with Miss Boyack and Ms Dixon had a sleepover at school on Friday night. I visited for a little bit. I could barely keep my eyes open after the Colour Run and decided it wasn't called a sleepover for nothing so was soon fast asleep.

My nostrils work even when I'm snoring, so I knew when sausages were served...not that I was allowed to eat them. The Grade 2s are a very generous bunch and I was offered lots of sausages but sadly had to decline due to my allergies. I saw a dropped crust before the Food Police did, so enjoyed that instead. Shhh, don't tell anyone!

Below: I had some more visitors this week. Once they had finished their maths work, we had a quick catch up and I showed them my new toy. They probably want one now too. I volunteered to share which I think they appreciated.

Comments that have put a smile on my dial this week...

"Asha, smile for the pupparazzi! Get it?!"
"You can do it! Just a bit further!" I was on my second lap of the oval and tiring quickly. I think the oval has grown?

Happy holidays everyone! Stay safe, sleep lots, eat lots, avoid cats, share your toys and follow instructions – sometimes you get a little biscuit! Oh, and don't roll in anything smelly or you have to have a bath. See you in Term 4!
